A REPORT SUBMITTED BY
SMT G.JYOTSNA RANI,
GUEST LECTURER IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

PREFACE

This Study Report has been prepared in partial fulfilment of the requirement for the B.A. Students. For preparing the Study Report, we have visited the Palakol Municipal Office on 19.04.2022 during the working hours suggested by the officials, to avail the necessary information. The blend of learning and knowledge acquired during our practical studies at the office is presented in this report. The rationale behind visiting the office and preparing the report is to study the municipal administration basics, history and development of municipal services, Town Planning, Sanitation, MEPMA etc.

I am herewith expressing my heartfelt thanks to our beloved Principal madam, Dr. P.Sobha Rani for granting the permission to leave premises and my special thanks to Sri N.Pramod Kumargaru, Commissioner, Palakol Municipality for grant of permission to visit the office in the working hours.

The visit is very helpful to the students to know how the Government offices are working and they obtained much knowledge towards their subject about Duties and Functions of the Local Body Governments.

STUDY ON LOCAL BODY INSTITUTIONAL ADMINISTRATION

A VISIT TO MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OFFICE, PALAKOL.

A municipality is usually a single administrative division having corporate status and powers of self-government or jurisdiction as granted by national and regional laws to which it is subordinate.

The term municipality may also mean the governing or ruling body of a given municipality. A municipality is a general-purpose administrative subdivision, as opposed to a special-purpose district.

The term is derived from French municipalit  and Latin municipalis. English word municipality derives as the Latin social contract municipium (derived from a word meaning "duty holders") referring to the Latin communities that supplied Rome with troops in exchange for their own incorporation into the Roman state (granting Roman citizenship to the inhabitants) while permitting the communities to retain their own local governments (a limited autonomy). A municipality can be any political jurisdiction from a sovereign state, such as the Principality of Monaco, to a small village, such as West Hampton Dunes, New York.

The territory over which a municipality has jurisdiction may encompass only one populated place such as a city, town, or villa several of such places (e.g., early jurisdictions in the U.S. state of New Jersey (1798–1899) as townships governing several villages, Municipalities of Mexico, Municipalities of Colombia) only parts of such places, sometimes boroughs of a city such as the 34 municipalities of Santiago, Chile.

Political powers: Powers of municipalities range from virtual autonomy to complete subordination to the state. Municipalities may have the right to tax individuals and corporations with income tax, property tax, and corporate income tax, but may also receive substantial funding from the state. In some European countries, such as Germany, municipalities have the constitutional right to supply public services through municipally-owned public utility companies

In reference to Palakol Municipality: Palakollu Municipality is the local self-government in Palakollu of the Indian state of Andhra Pradesh. Palakollu Municipality merged five Grama panchayats of seven villages (Kontheru, Adavipalem, Palakollu Rural, Bhaggeswaram, Poolapalli, VaridhanamAndUllamparru) on dated 7 January 2020. the Seven Village's population of 42,932 (as 2011 Census) It around occupies 20.08 square kilometres (7.75 sq mi) and after merged palakollu municipality It around occupies 24.68 square kilometres (9.53 sq mi) with 35 election wards it is total population of 1,04,216 (as 2011 Census)and making it the fourth most populous city in West Godavari District in Andhra Pradesh.It is classified as a Selection Grade Municipality. 1 January 2019, under Andhra Pradesh Metropolitan Region and Urban Development Authority Act, 2016, Palakollu Municipality became a part of Eluru Urban Development Authority.

. The municipality was formed in April 1919 as a Grade-III municipality. Over the years, it was upgraded and was constituted finally as a First Grade Municipality in September 1965. The first ever elected council was formed in August 1919.

The municipality is spread over an area of 19.49 km² (7.53 sq mi) and has 31 election wards. Each is represented by a ward member and the wards committee is headed by a chairperson.The present municipal commissioner of the city is Sri Pramod Kumar.

Tax/Revenue Section

Property Tax is one of the main sources of revenue for the Municipality. Residential and Non-residential (Commercial) properties, situated within the limits of Municipality, are assessed for tax. Based on such assessments, taxes are levied on the property owners. The information regarding all the new constructions, existing construction and modifications to the property, if any, are be provided by the Town Planning Department for making necessary changes to tax assessment. The citizen has to register with the urban local body for taxation and assessments are made based on the physical dimensions of the property and other parameters to assess the taxes to the citizen.

The Revenue section of the Municipal body is responsible for administration of property taxation for that respective ULB. Property tax is assessed for each property located in the limits of the area based on the Annual Rental Value and the Taxation rate. The Annual Rental Value of a property is calculated based on parameters like Plinth area, zonal location of the property, Residential/Non-residential status, age of the property, type of construction and other parameters applicable to specific situations. The Town planning section of the ULB provides all the details of the property with reference to its physical status and modifications.

Engineering Section

Municipal or urban engineering applies the tools of science, art and engineering in an urban environment.

Municipal engineering is concerned with municipal infrastructure. This involves specifying, designing, constructing, and maintaining streets, sidewalks, water supply networks, sewers, street lighting, municipal solid waste management and disposal, storage depots for various bulk materials used for maintenance and public works (salt, sand, etc.), public parks and cycling infrastructure.

In the case of underground utility networks, it may also include the civil portion (conduits and access chambers) of the local distribution networks of electrical and telecommunications services. It can also include the optimizing of garbage collection and bus service networks. Some of these disciplines overlap with other civil engineering specialties, however municipal engineering focuses on the coordination of these infrastructure networks and services, as they are often built simultaneously (for a given street or development project), and managed by the same municipal authority

Municipal or urban engineering combines elements of environmental engineering, water resources engineering and transport engineering.^[citation needed]

Today, municipal engineering may be confused with urban design or urban planning. Whereas the urbanist or urban planner may design the general layout of streets and public places, the municipal engineer is concerned with the detailed design. For example, in the case of the design of a new street, the urbanist may specify the general layout of the street, including landscaping, surface finishings and urban accessories, but the municipal engineer will prepare the detailed plans and specifications for the roads, sidewalks, municipal services and street lighting.

In the case of large buildings or plants, facilities or campuses, site civil works may be required that are similar in scope or type as municipal infrastructure, namely, access roads, parking lots, potable water supply (including fire hydrants), on-site waste water treatment plants, site drainage including sedimentation and retention ponds or basins, etc. In most engineering consulting firms, Structural Engineering and Municipal Infrastructure are typically separate departments. On a large construction project, the civil engineering design will typically be divided into a structural portion, designed by structural engineers and typically focused on the buildings, and "civil" portion, designed by municipal engineers and focused on the site.

Birth Death Registration and Certificate issue Section

The registration of vital events such as births and deaths is one of the major functions of Public Health Section of the ULB. The births and deaths, which take place in the hospital are recorded and reported to the municipalities. For non-hospital events, the concerned parties can make necessary applications to the Municipalities for registration of such event. Delayed registration of the events requires clearances from various authorities and payment of late fee.

Once the event is registered, ULB issues the necessary certificate for that particular event. In the case of non-hospital event, the certificate is issued after necessary scrutiny and inspection by the Sanitary Inspector. Name inclusion for a registered birth event can be done within a prescribed period as per the Registration of Births and Deaths Act,1965 and Andhra Pradesh registration of Birth and Death Rules,1999.

Health and Sanitation Section

Sanitation for the purpose of public health is defined as safe management of human excreta, including its safe confinement treatment, disposal and associated hygiene-related practices. The PMC recognizes primacy to integral solutions that covers sub sectors of solid waste, waste water (including septage), storm water drainage and drinking water. The aspect of sustainability is at the core of the strategy by looking at the dimensions of capacity enhancement, finance, technology, inclusiveness, climate change responsiveness, institutional and governance strengthening.

Improved sanitation is one of the critical determinants of the quality of human life that largely impact on outcomes for public health, environment and dignity. The positive outcomes of the sanitation interventions contribute to the economic growth propelled by livable cities. Investments made in the sanitation sector for urban areas will not only yield higher human development indicators but will also contribute towards the achievement of 10 percent growth rate for state's economic growth as envisioned in the Palakol Municipal Area.

100 percent of human excreta and liquid wastes from all sanitation facilities including toilets must be safely treated and disposed. In order to achieve this goal, the following activities shall be undertaken: a) Promoting / encouraging safe and properly constructed on-site sanitation arrangements wherever cost efficient and sustainable; b) In case of network-based sewerage systems, adequate connectivity of households and demonstrated financial viability for O&M would be required to ensure sustainability and proper functioning of the system; c) Promoting proper collection, conveyance, treatment and disposal system and treatment of sludge from on-site installations (septic tanks, pit latrines etc.); d) Ensuring that all the human wastes are collected safely, confined and disposed off after treatment so as not to cause any hazard to public health or the environment; e) Promoting recycle and reuse of treated waste water for non-potable applications wherever possible and also duly exploring options for PPP initiatives f) Promotion of proper collection, segregation, transportation, treatment and disposal of solid waste.
